

Suzanne Smith, AIA

Ms. Smith is a licensed architect, having received her Bachelor of Architecture from the University of Arizona. Her career has spanned over twenty-five years in the public and private sectors working in the planning, design, and construction of projects totaling over $700 million. Her experience includes various design and construction industry fields as a designer and project manager for several architectural firms, project architect for the University of California, San Diego campus and principal architect for the University of California system-wide, Director of the Facilities Design and Construction department for a new $200m university campus in Washington state, a construction executive for a major national contractor, and most recently as the Building Official and Director of Infrastructure Services for the Town of Oro Valley.